At-a-Glance Guide to Funeral Expenses

If the prospect of pricing a funeral has you feeling a bit overwhelmed, this quick guide can help organize your options.

1. Professional Services

Includes the expertise of your Funeral Director – everything from making your wishes a worthy reality to preparing the deceased with dignity and grace. Assistance provided by the Bradshaw staff is also covered in this category.

2. Facilities and Equipment

As you would expect, not everyone uses our facilities the same way. This category allows us to tailor cost individually.

3. Transportation

Use of a hearse for transporting the deceased is the most common expense in this category. However, we also plan for circumstances in which death occurs some distance away – be it out of state or out of the country.

4. Merchandise

This category includes a range of items, caskets, urns and vaults among them. Also memorial books and folders.

5. Cash-advance Items

On your behalf and as an added convenience, we typically pay a range of service-providers with a check on the day of the funeral. Examples include the florist, escort, clergy, soloists, and cemetery services. Expenses are totaled without mark-up and passed along to you as part of our final billing.

6. Cemetery Plot or Mausoleum Niche

Please contact your cemetery of choice to purchase these items.

Bradshaw Columbarium Niche

Adjacent to our Celebration of Life Center in Stillwater, the Columbarium graces an outdoor setting that creates tranquility and invites reflection. If you are interested in more information, please ask us.
